

INTERNATIONAL REMOVALS

YOUR HOME IS PRECIOUS.
WE'LL TAKE CARE OF IT.

We are GB Liners, a third-generation family business specialising in international removals since 1923.

Our network covers over 180 countries so whether you're moving near or far, we have the scale and local knowledge to make it happen.

We promise to take care of everything from start to finish, leaving you to start making your new house a home.

Choosing what's right for you

There are two main methods of transport available:

Air

This is the quickest (and typically more expensive) way of moving your belongings overseas. We have a range of specially designed air freight cases to keep your belongings safe and only work with tried and tested airlines. On arrival and once cleared through customs, your belongings will be delivered straight to your new home.

We also offer secure storage for your belongings if needed prior to your move. Simply give your local branch a call to discuss the options available (see the back page of this brochure for details of your local branch).

Sea

We offer a choice of your own shipping container (which is loaded directly from your home in the UK and, customs permitting, unloaded at your new home overseas), or space within a shared container (ideal for smaller shipments, less time sensitive shipments and/or where economy is important).

“We moved from the UK to Europe with GB Liners and our experience of them was nothing short of excellent”

How it all works

While no move is ever the same (and we tailor our service to meet the needs of every customer), here's a handy summary of how our international removals service works:

1

We provide a free, face-to-face, no obligation quote tailored to your needs by one of our experienced moving consultants.

2

We'll discuss and arrange every aspect of your move; from packing and removal method to protection against loss or damage and customs clearance.

3

Our dedicated international removals team will organise your shipment and confirm final details.

4

Everything will be packed and wrapped at your home by our specially trained staff, using professional packaging materials.

5

Your belongings will be carefully loaded, transported to your destination and cleared through customs.

6

Everything will be delivered to your new home and any used packaging taken away.

Looking after your belongings

We understand the thought of your belongings being transported far and wide can be a nerve-wracking experience. We combine the best people and the best materials to keep everything safe and secure:

- Our international removals specialists (all of whom we train in-house and many of whom are shareholders in our business) will come with the expertise, tools and materials to keep your belongings safe.
- We will only use the very best packing materials to look after your precious belongings.

For example:

- High quality export grade fibreboard boxes.
- Acid-free tissue paper and bubblewrap for your more fragile items.
- Purpose-built bespoke crates for antiques or specialist items.

- Export grade 5-ply paper blankets and bubble blankets for furniture.
- We also offer comprehensive protection against the unlikely event of loss or damage for even greater peace of mind.

Arriving at your destination

We have a worldwide network of local partners who will ensure your belongings clear customs and arrive safely at your chosen destination. All of our partners share our commitment to excellent service and liaise directly with our international removals team to ensure everything is delivered correctly and on time.

Our partners will reassemble your furniture and take away any used packaging to get your new house feeling like a home as quickly as possible.

More than a removals company

At GB Liners, we don't just offer removal services.

We can also help with:

- Looking for a new home
- Short-term accommodation
- Rental furniture
- Area orientation
- School search

If you'd like to find out more simply get in touch with your local branch who will arrange a telephone appointment for you with our international removals team.

“Our commitment to our customers goes beyond just moving. We're proud to offer these relocation services to help our customers settle into their new life overseas”
